

Nov. 8, 2011, Daily News

Tuesday, 08 November 2011

Last Updated Tuesday, 08 November 2011

Ameba Launches on LG Smart TV & Home Upgrade

They might have added "And don't forget about the kids," something LG Smart TV can't be accused of doing following its hook-up with Ameba, the IPTV company ...

New Hybrid/OTT (HOTT) Integrated Service & STB Report Forecasts New ... MarketWatch (press release)

Through the use of integrated program guide for OTT and live digital channels from Cable, IPTV, Satellite or Free-to-Air (FTA), Pay-TV Operators can now offer live TV sources with OTT content depending on local market demands. "The Hybrid OTT ("HOTT") ...

Research and Markets: Global Digital Broadcasting - IPTV, Smart TV, Web and ... Benzinga (press release)

This annual report (4th Edition) offers a wealth of information on the global digital TV, IPTV, Web TV and Mobile TV sectors. The television broadcasting industry has experienced incredible changes over the past couple of years due to competitive and ...

Uni TV sends dental education into regional centre iTWire

By Stephen Withers The University of Melbourne is part of a project to demonstrate the use of IP TV to deliver professional and further education content around the state. Backed by the Victorian Government's Broadband-Enabled Innovation Program, ..

Netgem selected as technology provider by Netia for its hybrid IPTV offering ... ITNews

Neuilly-sur-Seine, November 8, 2011 - Netgem, a leader in connected home technologies and solutions, announced that Netia will today start rolling out its new TV service based on Netgem's technologies in Poland, a telecom market that was previously ...

The children are our future, and they're not paying for TV GigaOm

8, 2011, 10:31am PT No Comments A weak economy is putting pressure on the pay TV industry, as it struggles to get new users to sign up for cable, IPTV and satellite services. But the short-term issue around the affordability of cable is hiding a bigger ...

China Telecom Releases IPTV STB Tender Results Marbridge Consulting

HK) has released the results of its IPTV set-top box (STB) tender completed in late October, which aims to satisfy the operator's requirements through June 2012. An individual involved in the bidding said that the top ten manufacturers participating ...