

July 4, 2012, Daily News

Wednesday, 04 July 2012

Last Updated Thursday, 05 July 2012

New IPTV platform launches

Screen Africa

GlobeCast has announced the commercial launch of MyGlobeTV, a new subscriber-based IPTV platform for international and thematic content in the US. The service.

WhoView? UK's big IPTV project finally nears, facing challenges

paidContent.org

The industry-wide internet TV venture led by broadcasters and ISPs promises boxes in stores before August. But, four years on, can even YouView make in-roads to the burgeoning connected TV space?

JadooTV Partners With Pearl Media To Offer South Asian Content On IPTV Service

MediaNama.com

Silicon Valley(US) based JadooTV, Inc. and Dubai based, Pearl Media Group (PMG) have launched JadooPLUS, an entertainment service on JadooTV's Internet.

Copaco launches IPTV service in Paraguay

Telecompaper (subscription)

Paraguayan state-owned operator Copaco has commercially launched its IPTV service. The service is currently available as part of a triple-play package in Villa ...

YouView IPTV service launches in the UK

uSwitch.com (Tech)

The YouView broadband-enabled TV service has finally launched in the UK, following a string of setbacks and delays. YouView launches premium DVR

Tech Hunter

YouView, the forthcoming IPTV service in the United Kingdom, has finally launched the eagerly awaited set-top-box with a £300 price tag. The highly priced ...

Foxtel goes LIVE on selected Samsung Smart TVs

iTWire

IPTV is rocketing in Australia with the news that Foxtel on Xbox 360 has gone national in previously unavailable Austar areas, and has now made the leap to Samsung's Smart TV, obviating the need for a Foxtel IQ/IQ2 box – unless you want the full suite ...