

Jan. 29, 2016, Daily News

Friday, 29 January 2016

Last Updated Saturday, 30 January 2016

Digital cable, IPTV grow in Hungary

Broadband TV News

NMHH Digital cable and IPTV services continue to gain in popularity in Hungary and were received in 40.5% of all pay-TV homes as of the end of last year.

DOCSIS 3.1: 9 million served by 2017 says ABI Research

LightWave Online

Thinking ahead, enhanced deployments of ultra-broadband networks could pave the way for cable operators to migrate to a pure IPTV over DOCSIS network, ...

The HD Viewing Experience For Korea Telecom Is Upped By Ericsson

SatNews Publishers

As competition in the Korean video market intensifies, Korea Telecom (KT), the nation's largest IPTV operator, has selected Ericsson's AVP 400 MPEG-4 HD ...

FY2015 EPS Estimates for Manitoba Telecom Services Inc (MBT ...

Zolmax

Its MTS segment offers a range of wireless, high-speed Internet, Internet Protocol television (IPTV), wireline voice and home security services. MTS also provides ...

Roku unveils new hybrid set-top

IPTV News

Roku is developing a hybrid set-top box that will be available for production by Roku Powered partners later this year. The new Roku Powered hybrid set-top box ...

ASUS Releases New Firmware Builds for Its RT-AC66 and RT-AC68 ...

Softpedia News (blog)

In addition to that, both versions fix problems regarding IPTV GUI, network map device icon, DNS response, as well as Multicast issues, and allow clients to get a ...

BBC and BT ink deal for next-gen broadcast network

IPTV News

The BBC has chosen BT to provide its broadcast network, and enabling the BBC to move to a new, state-of-the-art network based on internet technologies from ...